standard 100 by Oeko-tex®

Oeko-Tex is one of the world's best-known labels for textiles tested for harmful substances. The majority of our products are certified according to the Standard 100 by Oeko-Tex®, which guarantees that the every component of the product has been tested for harmful substances and thus is harmless for human health.

The Chemicals Group is arranged by RISE IVF, a world leading research group with a key role in the Swedish innovation system. In this network we receive the most updated information on chemical legislations and developments.

The choice is ours

In an era where innovation and sustainability is a foundation for future business we are excited to present a concept that seamlessly blends these principles:

Organic Cotton, a time-tested and proven choice, along with Recycled Polyester and the innovative Spun Dyed Process. These textile production methods define responsible design, providing a smart and environmental conscious option for you. Look for the symbols throw out the catalogue.

The full circle

Perhaps nothing makes more sense than recycling and we are happy to now have several products made of entirely or part of recycled materials. Recycled materials in fabrics offer several key advantages. They contribute to environmental sustainability by reducing the need for virgin resources, thereby lowering the carbon footprint and conserving natural resources. Recycling also plays a significant role in waste reduction, diverting textile waste from landfills and promoting a circular economy, which, in turn, reduces environmental impact.

Benefits of using recycled materials: Reduces environmental footprint Promoting circular economy

The future of colors today

Clique is always striving to be part of innovations leading to sustainability. One area where this is needed more than others is the process of dying fabrics. Today the conventional way of dyeing means first producing the fiber and then dipping the fiber in dye.

This is a process that uses chemical solutions and large amounts of fresh water when giving fabrics there color. Innovation has now led us to rethink the whole process and the results are not just better for the environment but more consistent and vibrant colors.

The way this is achieved is to dye the raw material before its spun into yarn. This way the fiber gets fully saturated with dye giving it a long lasting and bright color. Spun dyed is setting the standards of the future today.

Benefits of using spun dyed technology over conventional dying:

Superior color fastness – longer lifetime – enhanced garment performance
Reduces water usage by 75%,
Reduces chemical usage by 90%,
Reduces energy consumption by 25%
and CO2 emissions by 30%

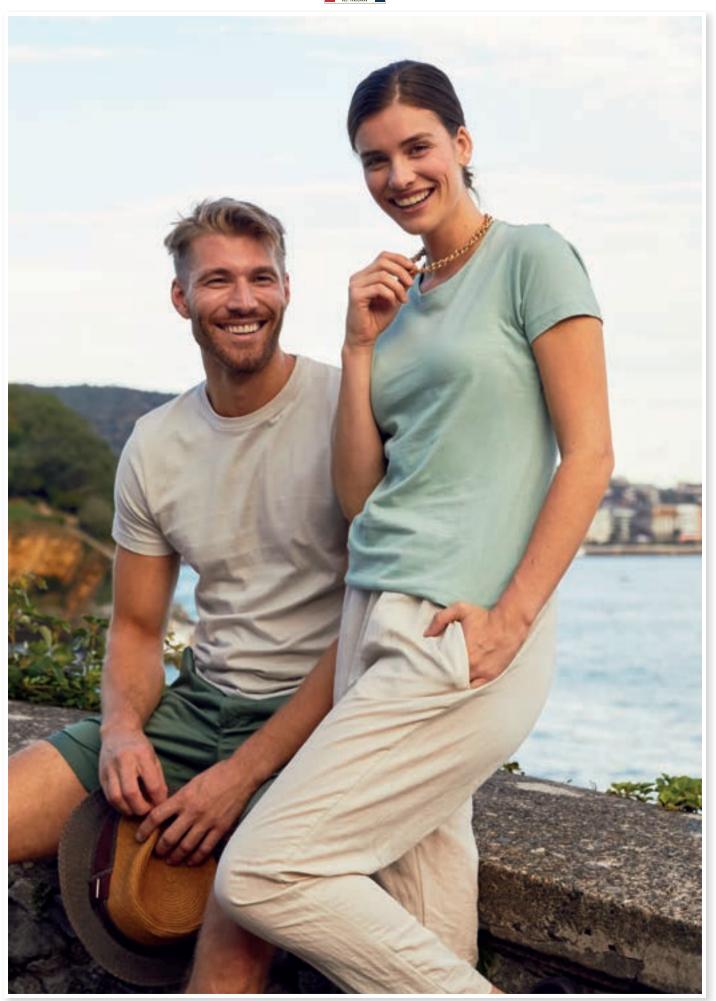

Organic cotton. The conscious choice.

We're proud to offer you a wide choice of garments made with organic cotton. This way we're making sustainable fashion available to everyone. Guaranteed to hold the same superior quality and fit that defines Clique, these items also reduce impact on our common environment as well as benefit the people involved in their production. Sustaining healthy soils, ecosystems and human health by utilizing natural farming processes instead of toxic chemicals and GMO's (Genetically Modified Organisms).

Organic cotton have several documented benefits:
Reduces environmental footprint
Relieves pressure on local water resources
Promotes safe work & better health for farmers
Promotes socio-economic sustainability

About print and embroidery.

Different printing methods are required for good quality and durability. The method to use depends on the product to be printed. Below, we have compiled a short and simple guide, explaining the differences between the printing methods used for textile products.

[A] SCREEN - The easiest, cheapest and very often the best printing method. Used for T-shirts, sweatshirts and other easy ready-made clothing.

[B] TRANSFER – Preferably used for the same products as above, but will provide a more detailed result and more distinct colours. The transfer print can be stocked for immediate application.

[C] DIRECT EMBROIDERY - Creates an impression of exclusivity and class. This method is excellent for jackets, terry cloth, knitwear and shirts.

[D] WOVEN EMBROIDERY – Woven embroidered labels are extremely detailed and very distinctive. These labels can also be stocked for reproduction.

[E] EMBOSSING – A printing method that punches the print onto the fabric three-dimensionally. The effect is like blind-stamping - discreet and exclusive. This method can be used on most materials, but preferably on cotton, polyester and fleece.

Care instructions

CLIQUE

Although we are most careful in our choice of materials, workshops, production methods and products to ensure high quality, you also ainstructions on its care are given with symbols and text in all our garments. An explanation of the symbols most commonly used are given below.

The tub shows that the garment may be hand or machine washed, and the number shows the recommended water temperature. Takes normal spin cycle. It is as important not to wash the garment in too cold as in too hot water. For example, bleeding can occur much easier at 40°C than at 60°C, depending on the dyes used. Therefore always follow the given temperature. A crossed tub means that the garment may not to be water washed.

A circle means that the garment may be dry cleaned. The letter in the circle gives the chemical to be used in dry cleaning. A crossed circle means that dry cleaning is not allowed.

The triangle means that the garment may be chlorine bleached. The letters Cl in the triangle is the chemical term for chlorine. The crossed triangle means chlorine bleach is not allowed.

The symbol of the circle within the square means that the garment may be tumble dried. This symbol crossed means that tumble drying is not permitted. It is especially important that this instruction is observed because this is the only drying method that can damage a garment made of fabric that does not take tumble drying.

The iron shows that the garment may be ironed or heat pressed. One or more dots in the symbol shows the iron setting.

- ••• Hot iron (highest 200°C)
- •• Warm iron (highest 150°C)
- Cool iron (highest 110°C)

A crossed iron means that the garment should not be ironed or pressed with heat. Avoid ironing the print on printed garments, (even on the reverse side of the print).

Preparation before washing clothes:

- Always sort and wash laundry according to care instructions; 40°, 60°C etc.
- Wash dark colours separately.
- Follow the advice on dosage given by the detergent manufacturer.

If you have any questions about quality, care, etc., please feel free to call us.

The symbol is used for fabric that is waterproof from 2000 WP or more. Breathable Taped seams Reflective UV protected fabric. The value under
